MAY REENTER CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Roosevelt Back on Job and Bars All Callers at Oyster Bay

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The quiet routine of life at Sagamore Hill was picked up again by Colonel Roosevelt and his family today as though it had not been interrupted by the attempt to assassinate the former president.

For the first time since he was wounded, eight days ago, Colonel Roosevelt was unattended tonight by physicians. There was no one in the house except members of the family and servants, and the colonel spoke hopefully of being able after one day more of rest, gradually to resume his work.

Except for the fact that Colonel Roosevelt was in bed this evening instead of at work in his library there was nothing to suggest that anything out of the ordinary had happened.

Rest is Essential.

Four physicians were with the colonel on his arrival at Oyster Bay from Chicago this morning and after they had dressed his wound they told him that the one essential thing was complete rest. If their directions are observed, it is believed the ex-president's complete recovery is probable, although it cannot yet be said that he is entirely out of danger.

Dr. Alexander Lambert and Dr. Scoury L. Terrill, who accompanied Colonel Roosevelt from Chicago, were joined in New York by Dr. Joseph A. Blake and Dr. George E. Brewer. After examining the patient, they said the wound was still wide open, spoke of the possibility of infection, and added they were unable to say whether it might be possible for him to resume campaign work.

Dismisses Corps of Physicians.

Colonel Roosevelt said when his wound had been dressed, that there was no longer the need of constant supervision of physicians, because he

QUIET PREVAILS IN STRIKE DISTRICTS

ELY, Nev., Oct. 22.—Several hundred miners and smeltersmen returned to their work here today. The carpenters' union at McGill has called the strike off, and it is said that the miners have asked consent from their national headquarters to take the same action. There have been no disturbances in the district this week.

BINGHAM, Utah, Oct. 22.—Nearly 2,000 men are at work in the mines here today. Many former employees of the Utah Copper company returned to the mines this morning, bringing the total number of men now at work for this company to more than 1,500. The district output is about 50 per cent of normal.

To the Man Who Believes We Need a New Party, but Who "Fears Roosevelt Would Be Unsafe"

By PAUL V. BUNN

My Dear Mr. Voter:

Well, then, we are agreed that both of the old parties have "shot their bolts"; that their leaders are not leaders, but bosses; that the acts of these bosses are not for the good of the people, but for their own personal gain; that they stop at nothing to keep things in their own hands; and all of this means that you and I have been political puppets. Every spark of manhood in you resents this condition, but it has not resented it enough.

So now a new party has been created—a party that will have at heart the real interests of the private citizen, and within three short months it has obtained a magnitude heretofore unobtainable.

And you agree with all this, but you fear Roosevelt would be unsafe? Now let's analyze that. And let's analyze that Roosevelt did wrong while he was ruling his country for seven years.

If you will go at this thing openly, I doubt if you will find anything of importance in which he erred. And if you should find one or two things, for one of them you can find a hundred of things in which he not only justified the country, but did it in a way that your Trusts and your Wilsons could hardly be able to do.

When he initiated the railroad act, every railroad president and every Wall Street financier wanted to dance the principal address. Speeches also will be made by other prominent state and congressional candidates.

Word that Mr. Costigan could arrange to speak here Friday was received by Chairman James Stewart of the county organization yesterday, and arrangements at once were put under way for an enthusiastic rally at which the principle of the Progressive party will be convincingly set forth.

Mr. Costigan is a forceful and pleasing speaker, and he is a man whose earnestness impresses all who hear him. For years he has fought for clean government and against the corrupt control of politics by big business, and he has won a reputation not only as a profound and progressive thinker, but as a fighter for principle who knows neither fear nor compromise. As president of the Direct Legislation league he has done much, and to his aggressive leadership is largely responsible the magnificent victory for clean government in Denver last spring, when the old bipartisan corporation machine was completely routed.

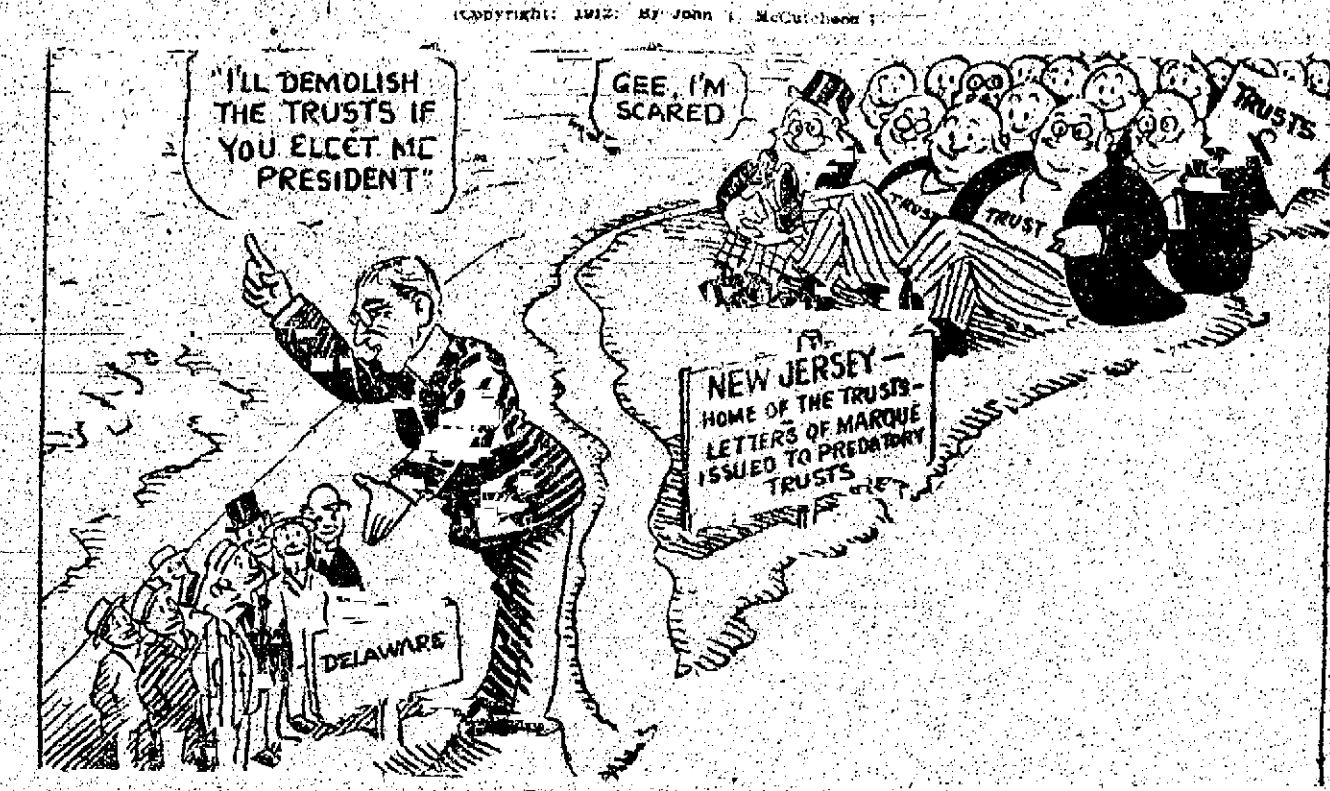

J. A. WRITER, DENVER.
SECRETARY OF C. F. & I.

DENVER, Oct. 22.—The newly elected directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company met here today and elected J. A. Writer of Denver as secretary of the company, to succeed R. H. Hunt. All other officers were re-elected.

Another Newspaper Turns Progressive

The Fremont County Leader, heretofore a staunch Democratic paper, published in Canon City, and with a large circulation throughout the Arkansas valley, has come out strong for the Progressive ticket. This is another evidence of a coming landslide, and shows how the tide is turning in favor of the Progressives and their cause.

ROCK ISLAND TRAIN HAS SUCCESSFUL DAY

El Paso County Farmers
Shown Science of Dry
Farm and Dairy

Special to The Gazette.

RAMAH, Colo., Oct. 22.—Farmers came long distances to Peyton, Calhan and Ramah today to hear the lectures and see the demonstrations given on the Rock Island dry farming special touring eastern Colorado. Three-hour stops were made at each point. Formerly the plan on these tours was for a stop of only an hour, but the new plan is being found more effective in reaching the farmers, as they are able to bring their individual problems before the experts for solution.

Every subject of interest to dry land farming was covered but emphasis was laid upon dairying as the mainstay of the homestead. Prof. C. E. Morrien of the Agricultural college spoke on the types and breeds of dairy cows, illustrating his talk with an animal selected for milk production qualities.

Prof. W. E. Vapion of Fort Collins spoke on poultry raising, and had an exhibit on a flat car of an underground poultry house. W. A. Barr, of the

Steamer Sinks In Gulf; Six Drawn, Others Are Adrift

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 22.—The tramp steamer Niagara, which sailed from Tampico, Mexico, October 2, for Port Arthur, Tex., sank in the Gulf of Mexico October 16. Six of her crew were drowned, seven are adrift in two small boats, and Captain Echeverria and 12 sailors were rescued by the Port Angeles life saving crew and taken to Corpus Christi today.

The survivors suffered great hardship. For two days they had been without water or food and were almost exhausted when sighted by the life savers and brought to shore.

The Niagara was caught in a storm off Padre Island, 60 miles south of Corpus Christi, Tex. She was of 297 tons net and was valued at $26,000. She was owned by the Maderas Consolidated company of Tampico.

DEMOCRAT MAY SUCCEED
SENATOR HEYBURN OF IDA.

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 22.—Governor Hawley announced tonight that he would appoint a well-known citizen of northern Idaho to succeed the late Senator W. B. Heyburn. It was said he referred to Judge W. Woods of Wallace, of the district bench, a prominent Democrat.

STAGE FOR BATTLE SET IN VERA CRUZ

Federal Soldiers Flock to Cause of Felix Diaz, in Revolt

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 22.—The federal forces began their advance on Vera Cruz at noon today. The rebels, under General Felix Diaz, who occupy the city, calmly awaited their approach.

General Berran, commander of the federalists, previously had informed the city council that the battle was about to begin. He declined to allow more time for the removal of noncombatants to the neutral zone.

The boats in the harbor have on board more than 5,000 foreign refugees and 10,000 Mexicans. The United States cruiser Des Moines is about 200 yards from the American consulate. The space between is neutral, and many of the refugees have taken up positions there.

Only 32 Americans remain in town. The 32 Americans remain within the town. The foreign consuls have gone aboard the boats. The American consul, William W. Canada, has assumed leadership of the situation, but threatened to denounce the refugees and fighters.

Within an hour or two the federalists were only seven miles from the city. General Diaz said that the artillery on the heights in the outskirts will fire on the loyal troops. Only if his outposts are driven back will he fight in the city, he said.

Baltan May Join Revolt.
Erewhonians firing gave a false alarm that a battle was on. General Baltan, however, had sent an emissary offering a truce until daylight tomorrow. This is taken here to mean that Baltan probably will join the revolution. The troops under General Diaz were sent back to barracks and companies became quiet.

Thirty sailors from the coast were landed today. A few of General Baltan's outposts also came over to the Diaz cause.

MINERS ESCAPE DEATH IN MIRACULOUS MANNER

Special to The Gazette.
CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 22.—Five miners miraculously escaped death in the Hull City mine, when 250 tons of rock caved in on the ninth level shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Warned by the terrific noise, the men ran toward the shaft. Fred Remora was caught beneath the entire mass but was protected by a huge boulder weighing two tons, which fell on a direct shaft over him. He lay there for three hours, while a force of miners worked to extricate him, and was taken out uninjured. John C. Mitchell was struck on the head by a rock and slightly hurt. The other miners escaped injury.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 22.—Making his last address in New Jersey during the present campaign, here tonight, Governor Johnson sharply criticized Governor Wilson for his failure to do a little "trust housecleaning" by dividing the Standard Oil, Tobacco and "30 or 40 other trusts," of which New Jersey is the mother, out of business.

The state laws gave the governor the right to take such action, declared the California executive.

THE TURNS FOR NEW PARTY CAUSE

Progressives Will Make a Clean Sweep in State Is Prediction

PEOPLE ARE ENTHUSIASTIC
Reports to Headquarters From Every Section of State
Are Encouraging

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, Oct. 22.—Word received from the speakers now covering the state for the Progressive party, represent another indication that the tide has turned and that the new party will sweep everything before it like a mountain avalanche in the coming election. While the present campaign by all parties has not been noted for large meetings or for a great degree of spoken enthusiasm, it is plainly apparent that the Progressive party meetings are attended by four and five where the meetings of the old parties are attended by one.

In eastern Colorado at a recent meeting thoroughly billed for Governor Shafroth and other Denver orators, but seven people appeared. At a barbecue arranged to attract interest to a meeting at Plattville, but 12 or 14 people took advantage and became listeners of the governor of the state and the Democratic primary nominee for the United States senate.

Progressives Sweep Pueblo.

The Progressive party is sweeping Pueblo by storm. Several meetings held there during the week have proven the largest held during the campaign by any party. Judge Ben B. Lindsey addressed over 200 stated workers at Bessemer, a suburb of Pueblo, at one of these meetings. The women are awake to the situation and hundreds of them have enrolled their names as members of Progressive clubs in that city.

In Colorado Springs the sentiment is even stronger than in Pueblo. Chairman James Stewart of the Progressive party county central committee reports to headquarters as follows: "We are going to make a clean sweep of El Paso county. All our candidates draw crowds and general enthusiasm indicates that it may be two or three to one over the other parties. The workmen and women and every class are wide awake. We cannot get enough Bull Moose buttons to go half way around. Since the shooting in Milwaukee sentiment has crystallized and everything is coming our way. A recent poll of one of the business blocks here indicated that its companies were four to one for the Progressive ticket."

Other Reports Encouraging.

From Trinidad word fully as encouraging has been received at Progressive headquarters. Polls of two of the wards in that city show that Roosevelt, even in the old Colorado hotel and Iron stronghold, has a lead over both Taft and Wilson combined.

In the western slope counties it will be a walk away for the Progressives ticket. The Democratic party in these sections has disintegrated and has no

CONSPIRACY PROVEN, DECLARES THE COURT

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—A battered, ivory-handled umbrella that had survived unscathed was produced as a government exhibit at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. Thomas Berger of Pittsburgh, foreman of a bridge construction company, identified it as having been found after an explosion on a railroad bridge at Dayton, O., May 1, 1900.

"I notice that you are examining the handle. What attracts your attention to it?" asked United States District Attorney Miller.

"I see on the handle engraved the initials 'E. C.,'" replied the witness.

It was the umbrella which the government charges Edward Clark, Cincinnati, carried when he attempted to blow up the bridge and which he held over his head to protect it from a heavy rain. The government says Clark, after lighting the fuse, forgot the umbrella.

Construction Men Testify.

Clark, at the opening of the present trial, pleaded guilty. The indictment alleges that Herbert S. Harkin, acting secretary of the International Association of Bridges and Structural Iron Workers, assisted Clark in preparing for the dynamite explosion.

A dozen foremen of construction firms testified about explosions. If it is proved that Clark was guilty of an attempt to blow up a bridge across the Susquehanna river near Perryville, the case on the back of his neck.

Jane Addams Here Nov. 2

Miss Jane Addams, founder of Hull House at Chicago, and leader of the women's forces in the Progressive party, will be in Colorado Springs, Friday, November 2, and will make an address at Temple theater at 2:30 o'clock that afternoon. She will speak in Denver, Thursday, November 1, and will go to Pueblo from Colorado Springs.

Jane Addams has a message for the women of Colorado and to the public in general. As one of the greatest women of the nation in the field of philanthropy and sociology, she has gained international fame, and her message to the women voters of this state will be of vital importance.

Sidewalks	50,000
Storm sewers	40,000
Total	$2,519,020

Improvements authorized in progress or completed in Colorado Springs within a year aggregate more than $2,500,000—a record without parallel either in the history of the city or by comparison with any city of its size in the country. These improvements extend throughout every section, evidences of commercial, residential and municipal pride.

The most important improvement inaugurated during the year, is definite action toward building the Alamo station home for the poor, which, when completed will cost several hundred thousand dollars. The trustees recently authorized architects to draw plans for the first section of buildings to cost $100,000.

The buildings to be started this year are two dormitories, one for boys between the ages of 6 and 10 years, and one for girls of the same age; six 4-room cottages and four 3-room cottages for the aged. These will be constructed of cement stuccoed brick, with tile roofs, and thoroughly fireproof and modern. A 10-room dwelling for Superintendent Cowan also will be started this year.

The Group System.

The group system includes administration hall, girls school, library, museum, assembly hall, boys common hall, boys school, boys dormitories, girls dormitories, hospital, infirmary, home for aged, cottages for aged, infants buildings, children's cottages, cottages for nurses and directors, superintendent's residence, main store house, housekeeper's cottage, cottages for servants, power house, laundry, garage, girls playground, boys playground and state lodge. The trustees will follow the plan of Mr. Stratton to eliminate any suggestion of an institution for the poor.

A great sanatorium to cost $500,000 will be built on the site now occupied by the Cragmor sanatorium, northwest of Colorado Springs. A corporation in which J. A. Haver and W. A. Price are prominent has been organized, and active steps toward raising the capital have been taken.

The building will be modeled after Indian pueblos, a feature unique in modern construction. To secure the maximum of sunshine and fresh air, each room will have an outside apartment. The building will be six stories high in some of its sections, and each story will cover less space than the one beneath it. The main building will accommodate 150 patients, and the general plan includes detached cottages, heating plant, garage, tennis courts and laundry separate from the main sanatorium. Concrete will be the material used in construction; making the sanatorium absolutely fireproof.

The company plans to provide a sanatorium for wealthy invalids, where they may procure the most scientific treatment, and although there are several sanatoria for scientific treatment of disease, there is none here for the old treatment of the wealthy class.

M. W. A. Improvements.

Work on the Modern Woodmen sanatorium improvements has been progressing steadily, and when completed will represent an expenditure of about $200,000. The new administration building is 120 by 200 feet, built entirely of stone and reinforced concrete, with a tile roof. A court 12 feet wide runs through the center. The first floor is to be devoted to offices, dining rooms and kitchens, with sleeping apartments on the second floor. The receiving hospital will be 25 by 100 feet, and will be two stories high, with commodious basement. It will be equipped to care for 50 patients, new-comers to the institution, and those who are confined to bed.

Plans are well advanced for the erection of a new gymnasium at Colorado college, at a cost of $100,000. More than $70,000 of the amount already has been raised. The new building will contain indoor and outdoor gymnasiums, dining hall, baths, commons, lockers, etc. Brick and stone will be used in construction. Placing Colorado across the building will be the one-story high, while fronting the athletic field it will be two stories high. The gymnasiums will occupy the lower floor, while the dining rooms, commons, of five and kitchen will occupy the upper story. The first subscription amounted to $20,000 and was announced by President Sloan at the commencement exercises last June. E. P. Shove of Colorado Springs, who is greatly interested in the institution, has promised to donate one dollar for every dollar raised by the students, and it is expected that the students will be able to raise their present subscription of $2,500 up to $10,000.

President Sloan now is in the east securing subscriptions for the gymnasium.

New Y. W. C. A. Home.

Work has started on the new home of the Y. W. C. A. at the northwest corner of Kiowa street and Nevada avenue. The new building will cost approximately $25,000, and is to be completed within two months. It will be of brick, with reinforced concrete floors and will be fireproof in every respect.

The first and second floors will be occupied by offices, rest rooms, a sewing hall and class room. The third and fourth floors will be used for dormitories, while the top story will contain the kitchen and cafeteria. The building, modern throughout, will be 25 by 80 feet in size. A gymnasium is to be added after the building is constructed.

Two plans are under consideration for a new high school, one of which contemplates the expenditure of $149,000, and the other $345,000. The latter, on the supposition that the new structure will be closely and the other with the idea that it will be erected in width to 90 feet.

The plan based upon the latter plan, being closed, centers about the buildings forming an open quadrangle. The cost of this plan is $444,000, including $25,000 to be spent in paving and remodeling the present building.

The other plan shows a large building reduced to a width of 90 feet, with six buildings, three on each side. This plan will probably be followed, since Cheyenne avenue has been narrowed to 90 feet, and there seems little likelihood of its being closed entirely.

Deaf and Blind Building.

The contract has been awarded for the construction of a new building at the Colorado school for the deaf and blind, at a cost of about $250,000. The new dormitory is to accommodate about 60 students, and will be two stories high, with a basement. It is to cover a ground space of 48 by 100 feet, and will be built of stone.

Sunny Rest sanatorium has been erected at a cost of $25,000. The amount was secured largely through the efforts of the Associated Charities. It is for the care of tubercular patients.

St. Marys academy is planning the erection of a new high school, at a cost of $250,000.

The corporation has been formed for Tourist Memorial chapel of the United Brethren church, to cost $25,000, and Christ Lutheran church is planning the erection of a new edifice.

Municipal improvements described and in progress are most important from a standpoint of civic beauty, as well as containing values of property. At home these miles of paving, curbing and gutters, has been completed during the year, involving a cost of about $200,000. This includes 20 blocks of asphalt, fine and a half blocks of gravel and stone on the main thoroughfares.

The asphalt is laid in the business district, the gravel and oil pavement on the side avenue will all be completed within a few weeks, and work finished on the asphalt macadam on Nevada avenue, between Pike's Peak avenue and Huerfano street.

The street railway company has made improvements, amounting to about $100,000. The company has placed between and two feet each sidewalk, curbs, gutters, benches and other fixtures in concrete.

Storm Sewers.

The storm sewers, installed as a preliminary to the paving, involve an expenditure of $15,000.

The new uniform sidewalks have been paving, direct cost in the business district of $50,000, and are a distinct step in the improvement scheme.

The main city street lighting system is one of 17 blocks in the city, and an attraction of considerable value. The 100 Edison blocks are now equipped with the improved lights, requiring no special class. These new orange and light standards are of black iron on a side. Nearly all the lights are now installed on Tejon street, from Kiowa to Pike's Peak, and from Vermont to Boulder street, the city moved district on Tejon street, the lights also are installed on Huerfano street from Nevada to Cass, and are assigned to the various blocks. The new lights also have been installed on Kiowa street, between Tejon and Nevada.

Police block system is being installed, from the officers' headquarters on Tejon street, and probably soon will be extended east to the Sheriff's office.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. N. D. Godwin, aged 58 years, formerly of 935 South Weber street, and for many years a well-known nurse here, died last Thursday at Portland, Ore., where she had gone to make her home a short time before. Her death was due to hemorrhage of the brain. She is survived by her husband, who has been a resident of this city for 18 years, and by two daughters, one living in Portland, and the other, Mrs. Maude Bell, living in Green River, Wyo. Her husband will go to Portland before the end of the year. The funeral of Mrs. Godwin was held in Denver, last Saturday.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Potter, 28 years old, who died of tuberculosis Sunday in a local hospital, will be held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's church. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery. Mrs. Potter came here from Iowa. Her sister, Mrs. Butterfield of Iowa, is here to attend the funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Josephine Pease, who died Monday afternoon, after an illness of only a few hours of pneumonia, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Beyle undertaking establishment, 14 East Kiowa street. The Rev. John Ewart will officiate. Interment will be in Fairview cemetery at Colorado City.

RINGWORM ON BOY'S SHOULDER

And Back of Neck. Round and Mass of Watery Blisters. Itched and Burned Badly. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in One Month.

Box 157, Downey, Cal.—"My little boy of eight years had what they called ringworm on his shoulder and the back of his neck. It started in a small pimple like a blister and kept getting larger till it was the size of a dollar. One place was as large as three dollars. They were round and a mass of watery blisters. Whenever the water would touch it would cause another blister, commencing another sore and so on. It was very red and angry and would itch and burn so badly that he could not sleep or eat at all at times. He would cry when I would touch it. When he would rub or scratch it, it would look like it chopped meat. His clothing irritated it.

"I tried many remedies, but it kept on spreading and itching. This was all before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment on it. After the first treatment with Cuticura Soap and Ointment he was much relieved, and they cured him in one month.

"My husband is a plumber and his hands get scratched and cut which means a case if not treated, so he washes with Cuticura Soap and uses Cuticura Ointment on his hands every night and that keeps them from cracking." (Signed) Mrs. Harry West, April 6, 1912.

Cuticura Soap (Box) and Cuticura Ointment (Can) are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-page Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For tendered men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

TO THE MAN

opened which should be credited directly to Roosevelt, but the non-individual mind may credit them to Taft because the final results were not marked on the scoreboard until now. The first is the Lorimer case. You, and Taft, and I—and thousands of others—took it for granted that Lorimer's election was bought, but even after the Tribune published the facts, the senate and the people would not permit their moral sense to predominate. It took a Theodore Roosevelt to commit the one overt act that aroused that moral sense to a point where conviction could be secured. Now, if fighting Lorimer and his friends, and refusing to sit at a table with him is the "campaign of terrorism" that some papers speak of, it is not that, but it is the terror to the guilty, and to the innocent.

Another thing, the election of the interstate commerce commission that express rates must be materially cut. "Oh," you may say, "surely you must give Taft credit for that, as it has just happened." Now listen: For 20 years, we had had an interstate commerce commission. As a thing of beauty it was superb. On dress parade it was elegant, but in actual service, it wasn't worth a whoop. But when Roosevelt became president he brought it to life, injected vitality into it, and it began to do things, and has been doing them ever since; and now, when the most important act of its life is announced, should we forget that the act could never have been but for the man who breathed life into the actor?

He had the wisdom to create a children's bureau, to investigate child labor, education, etc., and its influence on the future of the country. Can't you easily imagine a billion dollars' worth of good from that institution within the next 25 years? Nothing political, spectacular, or impetuous about it—just plain, common sense grappling with one of our greatest problems, for truly "as the twig is bent, so the tree's leaf grows."

"Roosevelt is so impetuous." Yes, it may look that way, but nine times out of 10 his impetuosity is nothing but his ability to see through a proposition in one-fifth the time required by the average man, and seeing through it—acting instantly. Call it impetuosity if you like—it's name makes no difference. The essential thing is that it is always based on his desire to do the best thing for the most people and worst to nobody. As long as a man is right, impetuosity is good—for it accomplishes. It took Roosevelt only a minute to decide not to sit at table with Lorimer, and thousands said he was impetuous. But two years later these same people were howling at the senate's slowness in turning Lorimer out.

A few years ago yellow fever broke out in New Orleans. President Roosevelt at once ordered army surgeons to take charge. Six weeks later, complaints came to him that proper sanitary measures were not being used in the hospitals. Did Roosevelt refer these complaints to a red-tape medical board and sit safely in the White house awaiting its verdict? No, much! His contempt for physical risk is as great as his for dishonesty. He simply took the first train for New Orleans, made a thorough inspection of the hospitals, took the necessary action, and then came back and yet some of his enemies call him a coward!

Some of Roosevelt's enemies even try to charge him with the panic of 1907. Many unthinkingly swallow the statement, because they are willing to swallow it. But it's preposterous. That panic was nothing but the reaction from several years of top-heavy commercial prosperity. It's a wonder it didn't come sooner. It would have come no matter who was in the White house. The country as a whole will never know how much worse it would have been if President Roosevelt had been a man of less nerve and sagacity. And unless we hold Roosevelt responsible for the high finance that preceded the panic, it is absurd to charge him with the panic itself.

There are some of the things to which I want you to give careful attention. I thought, however, that fairly and squarely, and then let me know why you think Theodore Roosevelt, with all his seven years' experience as president, in which he didn't make a mistake of any importance, would not be a pretty safe man to sit in the White house for another four years. And don't forget that one of the biggest items of his safety is his wonderful example of clean living—an example which is perhaps the most valuable heritage he will leave to his country.

Remember, too, that during his seven years, counting panics and other things, he had more strenuous conditions to meet than ordinarily falls to the lot of a president. But, by the same token, there are certain indications today that this country may have more troubles in the next few years, troubles that will call for all the nerve, ability and intelligence that any president is likely to have.

Recent rumblings and tremblings within our social fabric hint at a future that will require a firm hand and a strong intellect. In considering these things—and if a serious situation should arise—would you rather have for your chief executive a phlegmatic easy-going lawyer, or a theorizing book-strategist professor, or a real man named Theodore Roosevelt?

The Gadder Is On the Job

Travelers Don't Fear Strange Dishes. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Enable the Stomach to Stand Anything.

A Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Is Your Best Traveling Companion.

"Railroads tell you about the wonders of nature along their lines; hotels describe their modern accommodations; but they never fail to ring in their 'cuisine unexcelled.' The wise traveler knows he is taking 'pot' luck when he leaves home, hence a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is quite as essential as many of the other traveling requisites."

Thus commented a philosophical traveling man, speaking of hotel life, restaurants, grills and junction lunch counters. "The agitations in this world," he continued, "are the result of one set of men trying to compel the other set to think and act against their own inclinations. It is the same in religion, politics, and cats. I have learned from experience to eat what they serve, to forget the food experts, read the current news and jokes and leave the stomach to the best expert in the world—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts assist the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at five cents a box, and they are the only article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of it that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of everyone.

Chairman Allison Brooker of the Progressive state-central committee stated tonight:

"It is going to be a clean up that will be without parallel in the history of Colorado politics. We have them on the run and they are getting now so that they practically admit defeat. I never saw beavers work harder than the Democrats are working at this time. The Republicans realize fully that the tide is a turn and have been practicing giving up the fight. Before election day it is no more than the Democrats will fall in line with their allies the Republicans and then it will be all over, but the shouting, and the Progressives will have rung up a 'majority' that will surprise even their most sanguine friends."

Taste, Smell and Hearing Restored

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, soothing, antiseptic Balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the noisy discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and improves the hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. The remedy will cure a cold in a day, and prevent its becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Not catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be cured by medicines taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner.

Mothers should give the children Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless, and pleasant to take. Agents: The Robinson Drug Co. Adv.

was "all right." The physicians were doubtful at first whether he should be left alone and it was suggested that one of their number remain at Sagamore Hill. But the colonel insisted that it was unnecessary, and the doctors concluded it would be best to accede to his wishes. They all went to New York this evening and said they would not return until tomorrow afternoon. Their decision was regarded by Colonel Roosevelt's friends as an indication of his improved condition.

The parting injunction of the physicians was that Colonel Roosevelt must have absolute rest, and must see no one today or tomorrow. Mrs. Roosevelt agreed with them and took hold of the situation as she did in Chicago.

Mrs. Roosevelt on Duty.

Her first move was to place men at the gate, with strict orders that no one be admitted to the grounds. Then she saw to it that perfect quiet was maintained in the house and the other members of the family were permitted to talk with the colonel only a short time.

Friends, political workers, newspaper reporters and photographers flocked to the foot of Sagamore Hill during the day, but did not succeed in passing the guards.

Tonight, after the rush was over, the watch was withdrawn.

Refuses Personal Guard.

Some of Colonel Roosevelt's friends were solicitous for his safety at Sagamore Hill and insisted that he be protected against the possibility of another attack, but he would not hear of a personal guard.

Although his physicians would make no promise, Colonel Roosevelt was confident he soon would be back in the campaign, at least to the extent of exercising general direction. He expressed his intention of going to Madison Square Garden, New York, to speak on October 30, even if he had strength to say only a few sentences, and after another day of rest he expects to begin preparation of an address of half an hour's length.

He hopes also to hold a short conference with Senator Dixon, George W. Perkins and a few other Progressive leaders Thursday.

An instance of the fidelity with which the physicians' orders are being enforced was furnished when William H. Hotchkiss, chairman of the state Progressive party, came to see the colonel. He got by the guards, but was halted at the residence.

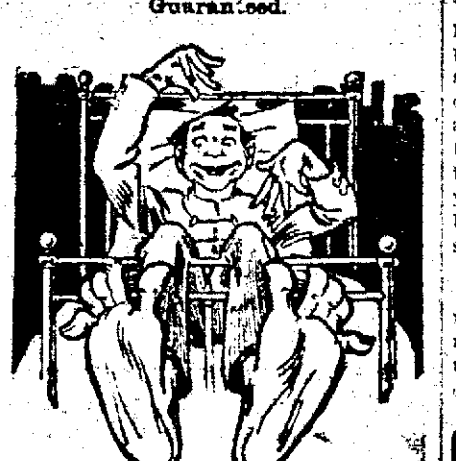

Colonel Roosevelt sent out his regrets that he was not able to receive the state chairman.

WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH BY NEW YORK ITALIANS

STRAFFORD, Conn., Oct. 22.—Miss Rose White of Bridgeport, Conn., was shot to death tonight, several miles from here, by members of a party of five men, said to be from New York. Three of the party have been arrested. All are said to be Italians. The three arrested are Joe Buonna, Joseph Montes and Frank Prizzichini.

Easy to Get Rid of Corns THIS Way

"GETS-IT" the New Corn Cure. Guaranteed.

"Corns Gone! GETS-IT GOT 'Em!"

"GETS-IT" is the new-plan corn cure that will surely surprise you the very first time you use it. It is so simple, painless, quick and sure in its action.

It shrives up the corn, whittles or breaks it, separates them from the true flesh, the corn comes off, and there you are, with feet that feel positively glorious, corn-free once more as they used to be on your "barefoot days."

The most remarkable feature is that "GETS-IT" does not burn or turn the healthy flesh at other parts of the foot. It is as safe as water. No more plasters, bandages, or salves. "GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

BECKER WITNESS IS GRILLED BY STATE

Prosecutor Reads Into the Records Testimony of "King of Newsboys"

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The case of the state against Police Mount Charles Becker closed dramatically this afternoon, with the district attorney, at the court's command, reading into the record a flood of testimony from Becker's star witness, "Jack" Sullivan, for whose admission Becker's lawyers had fought long and hard when Sullivan testified before.

Amid the vigorous protests of Becker's counsel, who had objected as vigorously when Sullivan's testimony was barred several days ago, the "King of the Newsboys" unloaded his tongue. He told his story belligerently and excitedly, in his own way, just as he had asked permission to talk when he was on the stand before. His testimony was in direct support of the contention of the defense that Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, informers and state witnesses, had conspired in jail to send Becker to the electric chair by their own perjury.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, had declared his case rested with Sullivan, who testified. He said frankly that he did not want Sullivan's testimony. The court ordered the case reopened, and instructed attendants to call Sullivan to the witness stand.

Defense Refused Own Witness.

McIntyre refused to question him, and Justice Goff instructed the district attorney to ask the witness, "as a part of the case of the defense," questions which the court had excluded during Sullivan's previous testimony. These questions had to do with conversations Sullivan said he had in the West Fifth street jail with Rose and Webber.

Rose told me that he and Webber and Vallon and Schepps were going to frame up Becker," Sullivan declared. "He asked me to corroborate his testimony. They were after me—kept at me—day and night. When one left off, the other began. Rose got a letter from the district attorney one day and after he had read it, he came to me and said, 'Jack, the district attorney writes me that he wants to know if you are going to corroborate us. He says if you do, it will be all right; if you don't, you'll be indicted.'"

"Webber said to me, 'The only way you can get out is for you to do as Mr. Whitman says, and swear you saw Becker with Jack Rose and me a few hours after the murder. If you do that, you'll get out, like we will, after the trial. If you don't you'll be indicted, and spend six months in jail.'"

Was Offered Money, He Says.

"Once Webber said to me, 'Jack, for God's sake, say you saw Becker, as we will testify. If you want money, we will give you $10,000, and if not, when you get out, we'll go into the hotel business. I'll put in $25,000, and we will divide the profits even. All you have to do is to lie for us. If you lie, it's all right; if you don't, you'll go to jail.'"

To all these importunities, Sullivan said he replied that he would spend six months in jail, if necessary, rather than swear a man's life away.

Louis Pitt, brother of Becker's so-called press agent, was another witness for the defense who was forced on the stand by Justice Goff after Mr. McIntyre had declared his case closed. Mr. McIntyre refused to examine Pitt, and again the district attorney read into the records evidence against the state's case.

Says Becker Is Innocent.

"Jack Rose told me," Pitt testified, "that Becker did not have anything to do with the murder. He said, 'I swear to you on my mother's grave that Becker didn't have anything to do with this. He is innocent, but I've been talking too much, and I've got to testify against him.'"

Tomorrow will be devoted to summing up. Justice Goff will charge the jury Thursday morning.

William Shapiro, driver and part owner of the gray "murder car" which carried the gunmen to the Metropole, and in which they made their escape after shooting Rosenthal, testified in rebuttal. He added nothing to published versions of his story, except his statement that 20 or 25 seconds elapsed after the shooting before he was able to start his car, with the gunmen inside in flight.

What is said to have been an eleventh hour change of mind on the part of Mr. McIntyre kept Becker from the witness stand.

"I didn't put Becker on the stand," Mr. McIntyre said, "simply because I did not care to signify the opinion that the charge of murder had been corroborated by credible witnesses. The law says that there can be no conviction on the testimony of accomplices without corroborations. To have put Becker on the stand would have appeared to have been an acknowledgment that the testimony of Hallan and Luban amounted to credible testimony; whereas, it appeared before the jury that Hallan had served 12 years in state's prison and Luban was brought in shackles from the New Jersey state prison into the court room."

Becker said:

"I wanted to go on the stand, but my counsel advised against it. I do not believe a jury would convict me on the testimony offered in this case."

CHICAGO VOTERS CAN USE MACHINE OR BALLOT BOX

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 22.—Chicago voters in precincts where voting machines were to have been employed exclusively in the November election were granted the option of voting by machine or by ballot in a supreme court order issued today.

The court ordered the election commissioners to furnish at all the precincts ballots, ballot boxes and voting booths even in the precincts selected for the installation of machines, and ruled that each voter may choose his method without suggestion or advice by the judges of election.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO ADJOURN TODAY

Sessions Are Postponed Until After Election, Investigators Say

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—With the examination of witnesses summoned for the single session tomorrow, the senate campaign contributions committee expects to finish the investigation so far planned and to adjourn until after election.

The shrews of war furnished to Albert J. Beveridge for his 1904 campaign in Indiana will be the basis for tomorrow's inquiry, and Senator Beveridge himself, as well as the men associated with him in that campaign, have been summoned to appear tomorrow.

Members of the committee did not expect to go into the matter at this time, having planned to conclude the present series of hearings tomorrow. However, Senator Pomerene had secured information relating to the Beveridge matter and requested that it be cleared up at once.

Pomerene Disputes Perkins Story.

Senator Pomerene, in his examination of George W. Perkins yesterday, became involved in a heated controversy with the witness, who denied having furnished between $50,000 and $50,000 for the campaign for the Indiana legislature in 1904. Mr. Perkins said he remembered sending only $10,000 to Mr. Beveridge, which the latter returned. This he remembers because he "almost dropped dead" when the money came back.

Senator Pomerene declared his information was that $50,000 or $50,000 had been sent into Indiana by Mr. Perkins after the national committee had failed to furnish $100,000 that had been promised to that state. He asked Mr. Perkins if he knew Henry C. Starr and H. C. Pettit. The witness said he knew neither.

Witnesses Summoned.

Senator Beveridge himself is busy with the Progressive campaign in Indiana, where he is running for governor, and may not be able to come to Washington until after election. Late today the Chapp committee summoned these witnesses, to be questioned about Senator Beveridge's campaign in Indiana in 1904.

H. C. Pettit, former speaker of the Indiana house; Lars Whitcomb, Beveridge's former law partner; Leopold Rothschild, surveyor of customs at Indianapolis; J. T. Hayes, secretary of the Indiana state Progressive committee, and Henry C. Starr.

Some of these are expected to appear tomorrow.

CONSPIRACY PROVEN

Mid., on June 2, 1908, when four men ran away, leaving dynamite behind.

E. J. McGivens, Chicago, described the blowing up of a construction car on an elevated road extension at Euclid park, Chicago, in March, 1908, and the dynamiting of a car of steel at Indiana harbor, Ind., a year later.

Conspiracy Proven, Says Court.

H. W. Ashley of Pittsburgh, told of the dynamiting of a viaduct near Clarion, Pa., October 12, 1906, after which pieces of a suitcase in which the bomb had been included were found scattered over the country.

Judge Albert B. Anderson, before whom the 45 men charged with illegal transportation of explosives are being tried, made several rulings in answer to objections raised by the defense. He ruled that evidence concerning all of the 100 explosions referred to by the government, including the Los Angeles Times disaster, might be introduced as showing a motive. He said a conspiracy already had been proven by the plea of guilt on the part of Clark and Orrie McManical, but the jury was to determine whether the remaining defendants were implicated.

Scope of Trial Broadens.

The court stated further that the government had undertaken to show that the object of the conspiracy was much broader than the mere illegal transportation of dynamite and nitroglycerine; that the explosives were being transported to destroy property, and to enforce a "reign of terror" against contractors who maintained the "open shop."

CAMPAIGN ISSUES INTEREST CITIZENS

Large Attendance at Precinct Meeting Last Night—Four Speeches Made

The largest audience that has yet attended a Progressive precinct meeting was present last night at the home of Mrs. C. D. Robinson, 746 North Platte avenue, and listened with interest and enthusiasm to several good speeches.

More than 50 were present, an attendance that reflected the increasing interest in these gatherings, at which the issues of the campaign are fairly discussed.

Judge Kerr made the principal speech of the evening, showing how he has always stood for clean politics and for the people as opposed to the interests. He pointed out how his action had excited the ill will of the professional politicians and the interests, and told how they had again and again fought against him and tried to defeat him when he was a candidate for office.

"G. O. P. Not Clean."

Judge Kerr called attention to the criticism expressed against him for having sent so many young people to the state industrial school at Golden, and said that the only legitimate criticism that might have been made was that he ought to have freed the community of boys who were moral plague spots in the community. "I have been accused of deserting the Republican party," he said, "I have turned my back to the Republican party because it has shown that it does not want clean government and honest politics."

Speaks on Platform.

Professor Howe spoke about the features of the Progressive platform that are strikingly different from the platforms of the other two leading parties, referring especially to the plank devoted to social and industrial justice. "Neither of the old parties care for legislation along these lines to any extent," he said. "The Republican party has pretended to protect the American workman, but has established conditions that enable the employer to import foreign workmen and women, and thus pay wages on which the American cannot live. As fast as employees are used up they are cast aside. They are really of less moment to the employer than the machinery at which they work. A machine costs money to start, and costs money if it must be replaced. A workman costs nothing but his wages, and his complete breakdown represents no financial loss to the employer."

Total	$2,519,000

Improvements authorized in progress or completed in Colorado Springs within a year aggregate more than $2,500,000—a record without parallel either in the history of the city or by comparison with any city of its size in the country. These improvements extend throughout every section evidences of commercial residential and municipal pride.

The most important improvement inaugurated during the year, is definite action toward building the Myron Stratton home for the poor, which, when completed will cost several hundred thousand dollars. The trustees recently authorized architects to draw plans for the first section of buildings, to cost $110,000.

The buildings to be started this year are two dormitories, one for boys between the ages of 6 and 10 years and one for girls of the same age, six 4-room cottages and four 3-room cottages for the aged. These will be constructed of cement stuccoed brick, with tile roofs and thoroughly fireproof and modern. A 10-room dwelling for Superintendent Cowan also will be started this year.

The Group System.

The group system includes administration hall, girls school, library, museum, assembly hall, boys common hall, boys school, boys dormitories, girls dormitories, hospital, infirmary, home for aged cottages for aged, infants buildings, children's cottages, cottages for nurses and directors, superintendent's residence, main store house, housekeeper's cottage, cottages for servants, power house, laundry, garage, girls playground, boys playground and gate lodge. The trustees will follow the plan of Mr. Stratton to eliminate any suggestion of an institution for the poor.

A great sanatorium to cost $500,000 will be built on the site now occupied by the Cragmor sanatorium, northeast of Colorado Springs. A corporation in which J. A. Hayes and W. A. Oles are prominent has been organized and active steps toward raising the capital have been taken.

The building will be modeled after Indian pueblos a feature unique in modern construction. To secure the maximum of sunshine and fresh air, each room will have an outside apartment. The building will be six stories high in some of its sections and each story will cover less space than the one beneath it. The main building will accommodate 150 patients and the general plan includes detached cottages, laundry, bath, garage, tennis courts and laundry separate from the main sanatorium. Concrete will be the material used in construction making the sanatorium absolutely fireproof.

The company plans to provide a sanatorium for wealthy invalids, where they may procure the most scientific treatment, and although there are several sanatoria for scientific treatment of disease there is none here for the special treatment of the wealthy class.

M. W. A. Improvements

Work on the Modern Woodmen sanatorium improvements has been progressing steadily and when completed will represent an expenditure of about $200,000. The new administration building is 120 by 200 feet, built entirely of stone and reinforced concrete with a tile roof. A court 12 feet wide runs through the center. The first floor is to be devoted to offices, dining rooms and kitchens, with sleeping apartments on the second floor. The receiving hospital will be 75 by 100 feet and will be two stories high with commodious basement. It will be equipped to care for 50 patients new comers to the institution and those who are confined to bed.

Plans are well advanced for the erection of a new gymnasium at Colorado college at a cost of $100,000. More than $70,000 of the amount already has been raised. The new building will contain indoor and outdoor gymnasiums, dining hall, bath, commons, lockers, etc. Brick and stone will be used in construction. Facing Cascade avenue the building will be one-story high, while the athletic field it will be two stories high. The gymnasium will occupy the lower floor while the dining rooms, commons of faces and kitchen will occupy the upper floor. The first subscription amounted to $50,000 and was announced by President Sleeman at the commencement exercises last June. F. P. Shook of Colorado Springs, who is greatly interested in the institution, has promised to donate one dollar for every dollar raised by the students and it is expected that the students will be able to raise their present subscription of $50,000 up to $100,000.

President Sleeman now is in the east securing subscriptions for the gymnasium.

New Y. W. C. A. Home

Work has started on the new home of the Y. W. C. A. at the northwest corner of Kiowa street and Nevada avenue. The new building will cost in round figures $100,000.

and will be fireproof in every respect. The first and second floors will be occupied by offices, rest rooms, assembly hall and canteen. The third and fourth floors will be used for dormitories while the top story will contain the kitchen and canteen. The building, modern throughout, will be 75 by 80 feet in size. A gymnasium is to be added after the building is constructed.

Two plans are under consideration for a new High school plant. One contemplates the expenditure of $444,000 and the other, $358,000. One is based on the supposition that Cheyenne avenue will be closed and the other with the idea that it will be reduced in width to 90 feet.

The plan based upon Cheyenne avenue being closed entails a six-story building forming an open quadrangle. The cost of this plan is $444,000, including $25,000 to be spent in renovating and remodeling the present building.

The other plan shows Cheyenne avenue reduced to a width of 90 feet with six buildings, three on each side of the street. This plan will probably be followed, since Cheyenne avenue has been narrowed to 90 feet and there seems to be likelihood of its being closed entirely.

Deaf and Blind Building.

The contract has been awarded for the construction of a new dormitory at the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind, at a cost of about $150,000. The new dormitory is to accommodate about 60 students and will be two stories high, with a basement. It is to cover a ground space of 45 by 100 feet and will be built of stone.

Sunny Rest sanatorium has been erected at a cost of $25,000. The amount was secured largely through the efforts of the Associated Charities. It is for the care of tubercular patients.

St. Mary's academy is planning the erection of a new high school at a cost of $200,000.

The cornerstone has been laid for Tourist Memorial chapel of the United Brethren church to cost $25,000 and Christ Universalist church is planning the erection of a new edifice.

Municipal improvements, not only in progress are most important from a standpoint of civic beauty as well as enhancing values of property. At least three miles of public curbing and gutter has been completed during the year involving a cost of about $200,000. This includes 25 blocks of asphalt curbing and a half block of gravel and oil and one block of asphalt macadam.

The asphalt is laid in the business district the gravel and oil pavement on Cascade avenue will all be completed within a few weeks and will be finished on the asphalt macadam on Nevada avenue between Pikes Peak and Huachuca street.

Storm Sewers

The storm sewers installed in the business district are valued at $40,000.

The plan to reform sidewalks, paving, district, east of the new bridge at $50,000 and a district for the improvement of the city.

TO WHOM BELONGS THE VICTORY

WE believe in treating the rival parties and their nominees with the utmost courtesy and fairness. They all have many well-meaning men and women of sterling qualities among their devoted members; but we as real Progressives candidly believe that our rival parties and their guiding lights are pursuing a mistaken course; that their policies will not bear comparison and logical analysis.

The conservative Republican party wants conditions to remain practically the same as they are at present; a wide gap between the rich and the poor, the extravagant and the frugal; the idlers and the toilers. We as Progressives believe in reducing these wide differences. The Democratic party advocates turning backward to old-time COMPETITION instead of going forward to harmonious expansion and unification of trade and industry. If this seems to rely for its success on battling down by retrogression what civilization during the past centuries has built up by progression. As Progressives we naturally believe that this retrogression is a very discordant course to pursue; that its attempted application is bound to intensify antagonism, discord and panics.

The Progressive party advocates friendly business mutuality; a safe and fair deal to both sides. The investors to receive a fair dividend on their genuine stock; the consumers to pay no more than a fair price for their commodities; and the workers to receive equitable wages for their labor. The Progressive party thus stands for the rule of the whole people and a safe and fair share for all.

The Progressive party has all the essential material in its platform to institute a safe, fair and speedy adjustment between the people and the public service corporations and trusts; the greatest pressing question now before the people, and that neither of the old parties has the available material in its platform to do this.

Just as the organization and operation of trade and industry on a large, unified scale was the greatest accomplishment of the Nineteenth century, so will the establishment of the equitable distribution of wealth be the greatest and most important of all the great achievements that await the successful consummation of the Twentieth century and from all conservative estimates of present appearances we have the strongest reasons to believe that the new Progressive party, with its rapidly growing army of thoughtful men and women as earnest standard bearers, will be the first effective pioneer in the useful work of helping to bring about this equitable sharing of wealth, work and social status by methods of immediate application.

With such beneficial principles in its progressive platform, with the spirit of progress so deeply and so universally diffused among the people, with such comparatively unsound opponents to defeat, and with such popular, competent leaders as ex-President Roosevelt of New York and Governor Johnson of California, there seems to be every reason to believe that the new Progressive party, with its demands for equal rights and equal opportunities to both men and women, will score the most noted victory in November, 1912, that was ever won in any republic, ancient or modern.

FAITH IN COLORADO SPRINGS

RESIDENTS and visitors alike have been greatly impressed, in a general way, with the remarkable improvements in Colorado Springs and vicinity during the last year. The paying decorative street lighting, handsome business structures, additions to buildings that already were a source of pride—all have been recounted from time to time, showing the progress of this section.

Approximate figures, as announced this morning in The Gazette, amount to an almost unbelievable total, considering the size of Colorado Springs. Owing to the overlapping of improvements, a period of two years—12 months past and the same time ahead—was taken into consideration. It was found that improvements completed during the last year, now in progress or contemplated for the ensuing 12 months, involve the expenditure of more than $2,500,000. It is safe to say that no city in the country anywhere near the size of Colorado Springs can boast of this record—more than a million and a quarter a year in improvements.

This sum is based on extremely conservative estimates. For instance, the Myron Stratton Home for the Poor is credited with $110,000 in improvements during the next year. This sum will be spent on 13 buildings for which the plans are being drawn, and for which the architect in charge will call for bids within the next month or two. The home will be extended as soon as conditions warrant, and ultimately several hundred thousand dollars will be spent in buildings and other improvements. Again, only a nominal sum is credited in the estimate to the water system improvements, but if the Colorado Springs-Manitou land bill passes Congress next December, and there seems to be every prospect that it will, this city will spend several hundred thousand dollars in reservoir and pipe line construction within the next few years.

With such structures, built or assured, as the Y. W. C. A. Home, Bethel Hospital, Colorado College Gymnasium, Burns Theater, Bennett Building, and the improvements to the Modern Woodmen Sanatorium, Deaf and Blind School, etc., the hundred thousand dollars or so in private dwellings all over the region, and the big strides in civic progress, Colorado Springs may well be proud of itself.

Of far greater significance than the beautifying of the city, the employment of labor and the general comfort and convenience attendant upon these improvements, important as they are, is the indication of unlimited confidence in this city and its environs. With such convincing faith manifested in its future, Colorado Springs looks forward to an era of unprecedented prosperity.

ADVANTAGES OF ONE-DAY-IN-SEVEN REST.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Everyone has a right to one day in seven for rest and the opportunities of religion, and that rest day should be Sunday unless absolute necessity prevents. The employer can afford it, for he will get better service and good will from his employee. The employee deserves it, for his physical, moral and social nature requires it. The country at large cannot be at a loss by it, for it gives best moral character of the people, and while we employ many to labor on Sunday there are multitudes who cannot have sufficient employment during the six days. About 260 letters were sent to persons asking for impressions of material loss that would follow the plan of six-day business; also, if they knew of any who failed because of ceasing from business on Sunday. Not one reported any knowledge of loss from keeping Sunday. The half-holiday on Saturday was favored rather than using Sunday for business or employment labor.

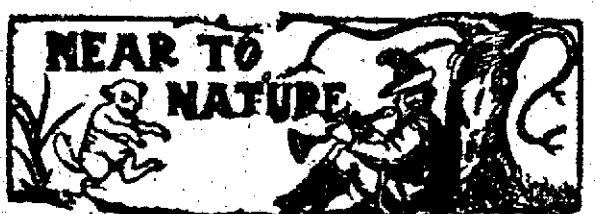

A New York confectioner closed his store for one year two days each week, Sundays and Thursdays, "from a conviction that he could do as much business in five days as in six, and so get an extra holiday without loss." Because of complaints of customers he gave up the Thursday holiday, but writes, "My experience teaches me we can, without loss to business, have five Sundays a week, for secular for recreation and one sacred."

A company employing about 1,000 workmen assembled the men at the noon hour to make an announcement to them. One of the owners stated that he had been a mechanic about 15 years, and he knew how greatly they would appreciate the surprise he was now to give them. He said: "In view of the approaching hot weather, and the need of recreation, and especially of the tendency to seek such recreation on Sunday, we have determined, independently of all others in our line, to close our works at 3 o'clock every Saturday afternoon, making no deduction in your wages." The announcement was greeted with hearty applause and three cheers for the proprietors. The firm would suffer to the extent of about $250 each Saturday by closing three hours earlier on Saturday, but they felt sure the men would work more cheerfully and better for the favor shown them.

Mr. Gates of Chicago, employing five or six hundred persons, proposed to his foreman to close at 1 o'clock on Saturday. His foreman said it would be utterly impossible. Many work by piece work and they would object. But Mr. Gates persisted on closing at 1 o'clock Saturdays, and told his employees, "We shall close next Saturday at 1 o'clock. By working a little harder you can earn just as much, and come back Monday with stouter hands, clearer heads, brighter eyes and rosier faces." Light the employees lose anything? "No," said Mr. Gates. "They made just as good wages as before. I took the pains to compare their wage accounts, and they lost absolutely nothing."

These are facts which have been gathered from Saturday half-holiday. As to doing business and employing labor on Sunday and every day of the week, there can be no question. Seven-day business and seven-day labor is against the physical as well as against the moral good of the individual and the community. There are works of necessity, but that is no excuse for seven-day toil. Most of the labor done on Sunday is only a pretense of necessity, and by proper regulation could be avoided without loss, but rather gain to all concerned. Let us have the Sunday rest ordinance in Colorado Springs.

J. D. H.

TWO TRIBUTES.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Roosevelt's courage in the expression of his convictions I need not dwell upon. His real and what one might almost describe as affectionate interest in the welfare of the poor man of the man who has the odds against him in life's struggle, and the sincerity of his desire to help that class of men, no man who ever had to do with him could doubt; and his insistence has always been that the difficulty between the so-called classes in the country and the failure of educated lawyers and political economists and others to think about proper relations between the rich to do and those who are dependent upon wages for their living arise from an absence of a proper policy of life on the part of those who are leading comfortable lives. William Howard Taft, writing of "My Predecessor," March, 1909.

The day the article from which the above is an extract was made public in advance of its publication by Collier's Weekly, the United States Senate had under debate a resolution intended as a parting shot at the outgoing president. It was March 3, 1909. Roosevelt's last day in office, and the attack on him in the senate was led by Senator Joseph W. Bailey.

Bailey's connection with the invisible government needs no further disclosures. He is as well understood as Archibald.

It was an unusual scene in the senate. Roosevelt only had a few more hours in office, but the venom in the legislative system had overpowered even the sense of humor which might ordinarily keep even overwrought men from demonstrations of full wrath. Senators like Bailey and Aldrich, who had been at his departing heels, by remonstrance and bullying reduced the senate to a sullen passivity, and the resolution was not passed. Roosevelt's Republican enemies had some sense of proportion. If not of humor, remaining, and when his Democratic enemies had exhausted themselves the attempt to pass the resolution of censure was dropped.

These two testimonials to the work of Roosevelt, that of Mr. Taft, who praised him, and that of the senate, which sought to rebuke him, have a continuing significance.

Mr. Taft is not quoted now to show merely that he was the highest regard for his predecessor. That would indicate nothing of value. It was to be expected that Taft, who had worked so long under Roosevelt and who was so much indebted to him for his high office, would write of him at that moment attentively. The value of Mr. Taft's words then and now lies in the fact that they interpreted Roosevelt intimately and correctly.

The fact that Roosevelt was this in Taft's eyes accounted for the fact that the senate was endeavoring to pass a resolution of censure. Mr. Taft, with a sympathetic precision pointed to the very things in Roosevelt's character that make him the candidate of the Progressive party now, the very things which animate him in his campaign for social and industrial justice at the head of a new party.

Mr. Taft understood Roosevelt, then, understood him so clearly that it is impossible he does not understand him now.

Mr. Taft must have understood thoroughly the man who stood before the national convention of the Progressive party, August 6, 1912, and said:

"We hold that under no industrial order, in no commercial wealth, in no trade, and in no establishment should industry be carried on under conditions inimical to the social welfare. The abnormal, ruthless, spendthrift industry or establishment ends to drag down all to the level of at least consideration."

The present value of Mr. Taft's tribute is its correctness. The men who tried to censure Roosevelt on the last day he was in office are his enemies now. They were his enemies then because of what he had done. They are his enemies now because of what they fear he would do. And he was the man described by Mr. Taft.

PROSPERITY.

From the Chicago Tribune.

It is a wonderful stream of wealth that nature has poured into the lap of the nation this year. The cereal crops will be more than a billion bushels greater than last year, breaking several records. Hay shows a gain three-eighths of the whole of last year's yield. Potatoes gained 10,000,000 bushels over 1911.

This accretion of wealth is tremendous, for the crops are still the foundation of our material prosperity.

Now will the American people accept this bounty? Not we hope and believe, as has been too often the case in the past, in a spirit of amuse-content and selfish indifference, but in a spirit more befitting a people so blessed.

If prosperity means that we are to close our eyes to the wrongs that exist and fill ourselves at the banquet while others go hungry, then prosperity is not prosperity, but destruction.

If the American nation is happy and fortunate in the measure of that happiness and good fortune is its responsibility.

Why Is a Bore?

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Why is a bore?"

We were gathered in a conclave assembled before the first open fire of the season; we had been talking of many things, of shoes and ships and sealing wax, of cut-throats and kings; we had settled the affairs of the universe and then drifted into friendly silence as one does before an open fire, when Molly, the typographer, lady, pronounced the above question. "Why is a bore?" Molly asked the author's wife. "What a silly question! What do you mean? Or is it a joke?"

The author's wife is very literal minded and so frequently misses our subtle jokes that she has acquired the habit of defining herself from mistake by that question.

"Of course it's not a joke," said Molly. "It's just this. There's a man in our office who bores everybody to extinction. We all do anything we can to avoid talking with him, and yet he ought to be interesting for he has had a splendid education and has traveled around the world. Now what I want to know is what makes him a bore and other people interesting when they haven't been anywhere or had half his education?"

In other words, why is a bore? I wish you'd think of all the bores you know and tell me."

The author's wife still looked as if she thought it was a very silly question but she wanted to be civil took up the matter.

"A bore," he stated, "someone who knows so much more than you do that he makes you feel stupid."

"Horrid thing!" said Molly. "It wasn't that at all. For I just love to talk with Mr. Graham and he knows twice as much as this man. Besides some people (with an emphasis on the some) who don't really know much of anything bore me, so that could hardly be the reason."

"Why, Molly," interrupted the lady who always knows something practical, "I think a bore is just a person who doesn't have any of the same interests that you do. That makes him a bore to you; he may not be to everybody."

"No," said the author, "I don't think that's so, lady. There are some people who are just born bores; bores to everybody. It seems to me that a bore is a person who, in our times, really thinks out thoughts of his own. I mean, he just takes the ideas and thoughts to mind current and goes them over and over again. He's the kind of person that's always quoting, proverbs and always saying things like, 'It never rains when you take your umbrella.'"

"That's not bad," said the man who thinks, "but how about this—a bore is just a person without a sense of humor?"

"A bore is a person—a selfish to know he is boring you," I contributed.

"I have it," Molly said, "he wants to become who had been in a groove since his first attempt and then he was waited for something worth while at last he announced of triumphant."

"A bore is a person who bores you."

MEASURES TO BE VOTED ON AT ELECTION NOV. 5

In order that the voters of El Paso county may familiarize themselves with the proposed laws and amendments to be voted on at the general election November 5, The Gazette intends each day to publish a brief abstract of one of the proposed measures, until the entire 32 have been set forth.

The nineteenth proposition which the people of Colorado must determine election day, is another eight-hour work day for miners, smelters and kindred work. There are two of these proposed laws. One reviewed a short time ago was initiated by the working people, and that one being reviewed today was passed by the general assembly and referred by petition to the people. The first section reads:

Employment in all underground mines, underground workings, open pit workings, smelters, reduction works, stamp mills, concentrating mills, chlorination processes, cyanide processes and coke ovens, is hereby declared to be injurious to health and dangerous to life and limb.

The second section provides that work in such shall not exceed eight hours in any 24 hours, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

The other proposed law on this subject, after listing the various forms of occupation, inserts: "where every such employment is continuously in contact with noxious fumes, gases or vapors."

COLORADO

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Slawsh"

Colorado is the roof garden of the United States. It is located a mile above the sea on the shoulders of the Rocky mountains and is nearly three miles high in a large number of spots.

Colorado has 100,000 square, oblong and pyramidal and parallelogram miles. Many of its miles contain as many as 14 sides and some of them have upwards of 5,000 acres—a thousand on each side. Half of Colorado is so badly broken up with mountain peaks that it looks like a Mastodon's picket fence to the reckless aviator traveling over it. Colorado trains travel farther going a mile than a small-boy does in coming home from school, and there are whole counties where, if the daring resident lets go of the state long enough to moisten his hands, he will land a total stranger. In another voting precinct a couple of miles below.

Colorado has the grandest collection of mountains in the United States of almost any size. Even the humblest citizen can see scenery three times a day with his meals and all the fresh and sanitary air that he can breathe. The mountains are dotted with precious metals and while Colorado is digging $75,000,000 a year out of their interiors, the tourists are clamoring gaily over their exteriors with almost equally profitable results to the state. Colorado has more mines than any other state and also more prospect holes masquerading as mines. Buying mining stock is the greatest Colorado dissipation and selling it the greatest Colorado vice.

For many years Colorado was only good to climb over and fall off of and pry into with a pick. Nowadays, however, it contains 800,000 permanent citizens, half of whom are farmers. By judiciously soaking a Colorado desert in water, it can be made to produce enormous crops of apples, potatoes, sugar beets and alfalfa, while Colorado cantaloupes are a national gastronomic feature—though Oklahoma claims that Colorado stole the Arkansas river in order to water the Rocky Ford region and is suing the state to get it back. The greatest crop in Colorado is the tourist, who ripens in June and is found over the state in vast numbers, shedding $10 bills with the utmost freedom. Colorado is also a natural sanatorium and its mountain air is breathed persistently will revamp, half sold and entirely renovated worn out lunks.

Colorado was admitted to the Union in 1876 and is a progressive state, in which the women vote, but not to elect men. Pike's Peak, 14,109 feet high, is the biggest thing in Colorado and Ben D. Lindsey, five feet high, the next biggest.

A WHALE THAT WEARS A BEAK

From Harper's Weekly.

Some time ago a specimen of Laysan's beaked whale was found stranded on the beach near Port Elizabeth, South Africa. This find was of great importance to zoology, because hitherto very little has been accurately known concerning this steppe inhabitant of the ocean.

The specimen found near Port Elizabeth and since mounted in the museum there is a male 19 feet 2 inches long. From the lower jaw project upward two tusks with two sharp, enameled teeth. The creature could open its book only four or five inches at the outer end, and its gullet was so narrow that it is evident that the animal devoured only very small fish and seaweed.

The beaked whale is said to furnish oil of an exceptionally fine quality.

The name "Hardy's" on a gift is recognized as a guarantee of quality and artistic excellence.

It costs no more.

THE HASKIN LETTER

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS XII—THE SECOND JACKSON VICTORY.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

There was no greater speculation a year ago whether Roosevelt would be a candidate for a third term than there was in 1890 whether Jackson would be a candidate for a second term. He had sent a message to congress early after becoming president recommending that the president be limited to one term of four or six years. That led many to believe that he would not stand for reelection, and Jackson did no more to assuage public curiosity on the subject than Roosevelt did prior to his famous announcement that his last was in the ring. When those who understood that Jackson's message was to be construed as eliminating him from consideration for a second term, began to cast about in 1890 for a successor, their eyes rested upon Martin Van Buren of New York and John C. Calhoun of South Carolina. The great body of the democracy seemed unwilling that Old Hickory should end his presidential career with one term.

While speculation was at its highest pitch, Senator Grundy of Tennessee, delivered a speech in which he bade the country wait. He said that conditions might make it so that Jackson would not be a candidate; that, he might even be dead before 1892; but on the other hand, he might be a candidate. He said he did not speak with authority, although the disclaimer was not to be taken at its face value, yet he thought it best that no one should commit himself to any other candidacy before hearing finally from Jackson.

Not long afterward Pennsylvania Democrats in the state legislature nominated him for a second term, and a few weeks later the Democrats in the New York legislature seconded the nomination. A little later the Washington Globe, edited but lately, to take the place of the Telegraph as the administration's organ, the latter having espoused the cause of Calhoun, came out in an editorial in which it said that Jackson could not retire. It urged that it would not be right for him to retire under the fire of his enemies, and that no president since the founding of the government had failed to submit the acts of his first term to the public for scrutiny and approval. In the face of the well-nigh universal demand, it declared he could not, with justice to himself or his supporters, retire with one term. Furthermore, it urged the mere fact that he had recommended a one-term amendment to the constitution, did not prevent him from accepting two terms, and should not be considered in this situation. Its editorial concluded with the statement that "if the people wanted Jackson for a second term, he would consider himself in honor and duty bound to meet their wishes."

The Democrats in the Pennsylvania legislature reiterated their faith in "Old Hickory," and assured him that the country again wanted him for president. He thereupon wrote to the Pennsylvanians that although he had hoped to be able to retire and spend his declining years in his Tennessee home, the call of the people had overpowered his personal inclinations and he could not refuse to serve them.

LOCAL CATHOLICS TO ATTEND DEDICATION

Over 100 Go to Denver Sunday for Cathedral Opening. Invite Cardinal to C. S.

Colorado Springs will figure prominently in the ceremonies marking the dedication of the new Immaculate Conception cathedral in Denver next Sunday morning, by Cardinal Parley of New York city, the largest Catholic diocese in America.

The participants from Colorado Springs, numbering more than 100, including the Knights of Columbus, the priests and other prominent Catholics in the Pikes Peak region, will leave here Sunday morning at 4:30 o'clock in a special car over the Denver & Rio Grande.

Colorado Springs council No. 582, Knights of Columbus, has been assigned an important position in the dedication parade which precedes the consecration of the cathedral.

Rev. Haber, Sub-Deacon. The Rev. Godfrey Haber, priest at St. Mary's church, will be sub-deacon in the cathedral dedicatory mass, celebrated by the Most Rev. Jua. B. Pittival, archbishop of Santa Fe, N. M., which arch-diocese includes the diocese of Denver. The Rev. William Howlett, of Loveland, will be assistant priest, and the Rev. Fr. Servant of Las Animas, deacon.

The Rev. Felix C. Abel and the Rev. Alphonse Kleffer, assistant rectors of St. Mary's church, the Rev. Edward Clark, chaplain at Glueckner sanatorium, the Rev. John H. Brinker, rector of St. Mary's church, Colorado City, and the Rev. Edmund Leary, rector of Our Lady of Perpetual Help church, Manitou, also will be prominent in the ceremonies.

Invite Cardinal Here. An invitation will be extended Cardinal Parley and his party to visit Colorado Springs. They will reach this city Wednesday morning in a private car on the way to the coast and prominent Catholics will endeavor to prevail upon the cardinal to accept the hospitality of the city. While the Colorado literary as at present plans includes Denver and Pueblo the local delegation to the dedication hopes to induce the cardinal to visit Colorado Springs, if only for a few hours.

The cardinal is accompanied by Monsignor J. La Valle, of St. Patrick's cathedral, New York, and Monsignor McGowan, of Old St. Peter's in Barclay street, New York city, and Monsignor James A. Lewis, his private secretary.

The program for the dedication follows: Saturday, October 26—Chime concert from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. Sunday, October 27—Services begin at 10:30 a. m. Dedication of cathedral by Cardinal Parley, assisted by Monsignor La Valle and Lewis, followed by Pontifical High mass in the presence of the cardinal.

2:30 p. m.—Chime concert and starting of parade. 7:30 p. m.—Solemn pontifical vespers. Monday, October 28—Jubilee pontifical high mass at 9 o'clock. 5:30 p. m.—Jubilee banquet tendered to Bishop Matz by the priests of the diocese at the Brown Palace hotel. 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.—Public reception to Cardinal Parley. Tuesday morning—Automobile parade of the city for visiting churchmen.

STAR COURSE HAS EXCELLENT OPENING

The Y. M. C. A. Star course for this fall and winter was opened at the Burns theater last night by Katherine Ridgeway and her company, with a varied program of dramatic readings and songs. The largest audience ever attending a Star course attraction filled the theater and was greatly pleased with the program.

Miss Ridgeway, in a variety of dramatic readings, displayed her excellent, natural talents in reading. Her program included a repertoire of modern and classical works. The work of the supporting company was of high quality, especially the singing of Ludwig G. Meyers, a "baritone soloist, whose beautiful selections brought forth a number of encores.

The quality of the program and the size of the audience augurs for a successful year for the course.

RUBEN HELD ON CHARGE OF TAKING STOLEN GOODS. 1. Ruben yesterday was arraigned in Justice Gowdy's court on a charge of receiving stolen property, and held to the district court under bond of $250.

Testimony was to the effect, that Max Kass obtained the goods, valued at $250, in Pueblo, and sold them to Ruben, who did not enter them on the books second-hand dealers are required to keep for inspection of the police, because the articles were new. Kass claimed that he did not know the goods were stolen until after he sold them.

James A. Orr, attorney for Ruben, asked the court to dismiss the case on the ground that Ruben's failure to enter the purchase on the books did not prove that he knew he was buying stolen property. The motion was overruled.

INDIAN MISSIONARY TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Samuel Miller, a Stockbridge Indian from Red Springs, Wis., will speak at the German Lutheran church, corner of Wabasha and Broadway streets, at 8 o'clock tonight. HERE IS A REAL DYSPEPSIA CURE

Pape's Diapepsin Settles Upset Stomachs and Ends Indigestion in Five Minutes

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly—turn into stubborn lumps and cause sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, let this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered—you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regularizes your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Pape's is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition, so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Pape's comes in contact with the stomach—dizziness just vanishes, your stomach goes sweet, no gases, no belching, no eruptions of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Now, make the best investment you ever made by getting a large bottle of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

COLORADO CLUB WILL MEET AGAIN TUESDAY

An enthusiastic and well-attended meeting was held in the offices of Justice Dunnington at the court house last evening by the Colored Progressive club. President Frank Loper presided, and short talks were made by Judge Robert Kerr, W. W. Gail, H. C. Cook and George Robinson. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, and an unusually large attendance is assured, as the colored people of the city are awakening to the meaning of the Progressive movement. An interesting program of talks will be arranged.

WESTGARD ASKED TO RETURN THROUGH C. S.

A. L. Westgard, who is to select the route for the transcontinental highway for the American Automobile association, went to Glenwood Springs from Denver yesterday by way of Idaho Springs, Kremmling and Vail. Local boosters for the route to pass through this city sent him a telegram at Idaho Springs, asking him to return by way of this city. Several routes through this state have been proposed, and all are much shorter than those planned through Arizona and Wyoming. Consequently a great effort is being made to have the route come through this state instead of going around it. Colorado Springs is believed to have a good chance to secure the route.

HOT IRON CLUB ELECTS

Officers to serve for the ensuing year were elected by the Manitou Springs Hot Iron club at a meeting last Saturday night. They are: Charles E. Bruce, president; Dr. B. B. MELOY'S DAIRY FARM AT CALHAN GETS BOOST

Dairying is no longer an experiment for dry-land farmers in eastern Colorado. In fact, this important branch of agricultural industry is a close source of revenue in the semiarid section, being brought to its high state of development by application of scientific methods—the secret of the success of dry-land farming.

In a comprehensive and instructive article in the current issue of "The Southwest Trail," the official publication of the Rock Island railroad, the editor, Alvin T. Steinel, declares that milk money alone pays the dry-land farmer's way in eastern Colorado. Mr. Steinel is accompanying the Rock Island special dairy train, which left Colorado Springs Tuesday morning for its tour through eastern Colorado, and he directs Prof. H. M. Cottrell, agricultural commissioner of the Rock Island.

In his article in "The Southwest Trail," Steinel points to the Peyton district, east of Colorado Springs, as an example of what may be accomplished in dairying in the dry-farming district. He cites as specific examples the creamery owned by Carlson & Frink, and the dairy farm conducted by Horace Meloy, Democratic candidate for state representative. Quoting from Mr. Steinel in "The Southwest Trail," following are his observations on a recent visit to these enterprises:

Down the line from Peyton to Calhan, the most important center of the dairying industry in eastern Colorado. There is a creamery at this point, owned by Carlson & Frink, who buy about 200 calves a day of sweet cream, distributing about $120 a day among their customers. There are four other creameries in the area, and several of the large producers ship direct to the creameries at Colorado Springs. Milk money is the most important single item of revenue; it keeps the farmers going.

And if you don't believe they go, you might try to see Horace Meloy when he comes to town at 6 o'clock in the morning with his Ford car loaded to the guards with milk cans. His seven boys, about 100 calves a day of sweet cream, a day. A man can live comfortably on that if he never gets anything else out of his land. I took a photograph of Meloy as he was unloading his auto. He is milking 20 cows and he raises the calves on skim milk. He was the first in the Calhan district to build a silo. It is of solid concrete, 16x32 feet; capacity, 150 tons; cost, $200. He built it himself, under instructions from a dairy expert in the employ of the United States department of agriculture.

He has fed two winters out of it and he says he can build up as good a yield on silage as he can on grass when pasture is at its best. Last winter—all you western farmers remember the rough weather Meloy gave his cows all the silage they wanted and one to two pounds of concentrated feed a day. These had the run of the pasture when it wasn't covered with snow, and there was never a cessation in the flow of milk, and of milk money coming in. Meloy is pleased with his silo. It has paid for itself several times over. He grows Purple-top white clover, a variety bred on drought and frost resistance, and says it yields about equal pound for pound, heat and stalk. It is a short-cut with exceedingly large leaves.

This fall Meloy will try a new stunt. He expects to run his silage out with his automobile, and if he succeeds other auto-feeding dry-land dairies.

farmers in eastern Colorado will follow suit. Mr. Steinel also makes complimentary reference to the herd owned by J. J. Hall of Calhan, a neighbor of Mr. Meloy, and the herd owned by the Palmer estate, in Colorado Springs.

LITTLE BESSIE MINE CO. TO DISSOLVE OCT. 29

After a dividend of 14 cents a share had been declared on the outstanding stock of the Little Bessie Gold Mining company, notification was given that, on October 29, a meeting of stockholders will be held to dissolve the company and terminate its corporate existence. It is stated that the option recently given on the property to the lessee, the Henry Adney company, has been taken up and the property has passed from the ownership of the company which bore its name. H. J. Dehn of Denver is president, and R. J. Ellison, of Colorado Springs, secretary of the Little Bessie company.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION PASSES RESOLUTION

At a recent meeting of the state civil service commission, in Denver, the following resolutions on the death of Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker were unanimously adopted: WHEREAS, The civil service commission of the state of Colorado, at its first meeting since the death of Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker, wishes to record its deep sorrow at the irrevocable loss it has sustained, and its appreciation of the great value of Mrs. Decker's services as a member of this commission. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That Mrs. Decker, by her quick sympathy, keen humor, sound judgment, tireless energy, cheerful optimism and wide experience in public affairs, was unusually qualified to cope with the problems before this commission. That, while recognized as a leader in many other reforms, Mrs. Decker was distinguished as a most zealous and effective champion of the reform of the civil service, in behalf of which she made her last public address. That whenever opportunity offered, Mrs. Decker received great gifts in support of this cause in city, state and nation.

"SECRET OF SUZANNE"

AT BURNS TOMORROW NIGHT

Melody responsive to every varying mood of a vital, witty and altogether charming story of a petulant husband, a coquettish beauty and a treasure for a household, a silent and efficient servant, a frowny, laughing and chorusing from story to finish, is just perfect, yet quite original. "The Secret of Suzanne" After all the wealth of heavy music in the standard operas of the season in Chicago and New York, this very vital and joyous work came as a surprise after rain when this delightful opera was given, as something new, strange and charmingly cheerful, something destined to remain as a favorite and not depart as the momentary sunshine of the season. This work will be presented here by the artists of the Chicago Grand Opera company with a string orchestra and the scenic environment that added so much to its charm when given last season at the Auditorium and the Metropolitan, "The Secret of Suzanne" which will be given here in its same style that marked its original representation at the Auditorium in Chicago.

Grand opera in grand style with singers of artistic rank will make the representation of "The Secret of Suzanne" at the Burns the most notable event of the season.

An opera having the involvement of the three great opera centers of this country as well as the leading opera houses of France and Italy last season, is Wolf-Ferrari's "The Secret of Suzanne" which will be given here in its same style that marked its original representation at the Auditorium in Chicago.

A number of singing stars of the Chicago Grand Opera company will appear here at the Burns tomorrow night.

There is a paternal pathos in the name Daddi that appeals pleasantly to the human ear. The little comedian, happily so named, instantly became a perpetual favorite with the Chicago Grand Opera company, and continues to radiate the genius of good cheer whenever he appears in the pantomimic role of the old servant in "The Secret of Suzanne." His work is at once unique and delightful, and can only be appreciated when this opera is heard. This opportunity will be opened tomorrow night at the Burns.

In Wolf-Ferrari's most successful opera, "The Secret of Suzanne," a distinctive and delightful work given with all the advantages of a string orchestra, attractive costumes and scenic environment.

AT THE UTE

Colorado City theatergoers will have the pleasure this week of seeing a real stock company. A stock company is something that Colorado City people have not had for some time, and the management of the Ute theater considers it a very fortunate in securing for its patrons a stock company which is composed of all great artists, great in number and in ability.

The Vernon stock company is managed by one of the best producers on the road, Mr. Vernon, who has had years of experience in theatrical work. The Vernon people start Thursday of this week at the Ute and will continue three days. The Savoy will have them the following week for three days or more, giving not only Colorado City people, but Colorado Springs people an opportunity of seeing them.

SPECIAL TRAIN BRINGS "THE KISS WALTZ"

The Kiss Waltz, in which the Moscow Shubert and present the most beautiful, Valeria Shubert, at the Grand Opera house, Tuesday, October 23, is another opera from the Vienna. The movie is the work of C. M. Zerkow, composer of Franz Schloffer's "Milk and Honey." The overture gets its name from a waltz which runs through it, composed by one of the characters, a landmaster who has a female admirer.

The whole opera is so full of life and the higher order, which makes it necessary for the principals to wear costumes of the highest quality. The costumes are of the highest quality, and the scenery is of the highest quality.

HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Removes the Scum From the Tongue, Sweetens a Sour Gassy, Bilious Stomach; Cleanses Your Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels Without Gripe or Nausea

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue coated, stomach sour and full of gas, you have indigestion and feel sick and miserable, it means that your liver is choked with sour bile and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with effete waste matter not properly carried off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this waste matter in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons, gases and acids and that these poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Most people dread physics. They think of castor oil, salts and cathartic pills. They shrink from the after effects—so they postpone the dose until they get sick then they do this liver and bowel cleansing in a heroic way—they have a "bowel washday."

Guido Spini, a handsome young composer, who has just completed "The Kiss Waltz" whose dreamy strains have captured every feminine heart in sight. Nella, the Baroness von Barneau, appears to be his choice, but the musician is kept apart from her, owing to a number of mishaps. The explanations become necessary. These explanations cause a riot of fun and laughter and, combined with the composer's charming music, make the opera one of the most delightful from every point of view that has been presented on the American stage. Miss Suratt is said to interpret a character in "The Kiss Waltz" that suits her peculiar art and physical charms better than any part she has previously played. The production comes to this city in its full glory of its original New York Casino setting—the limit of Shubert lavishment in the matter of scenic and costume detail. Miss Suratt will have a chorus of 60 Casino beauties. "The Kiss Waltz" is heralded as the most pretentious musical amusement the Mosses Shubert have ever sent on tour. A special train of six Pullman cars, we are told, will bring the production to this city.

Sails placed on sale Friday next, October 25, at the theater box office.

That is all wrong. If you will take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, you will never realize you have taken anything until morning when all the poisonous matter, sour bile and clogged-up waste, will be moved on and out of your system, thoroughly but gently, no griping, no nausea, no weakness. Taking Syrup of Figs is a real pleasure. Don't think you are drugging yourself; it is composed entirely of juicy figs, seeds and aromatics, and constant use cannot cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs" and Elmer's Syrup, and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company, on the label. This is the genuine—no reliable. Any other Fig Syrup offered as good should be refused with contempt. Don't be imposed upon.

Colorado City DEPARTMENT

JACOB L. PETERS DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Jacob L. Peters, aged 62 years, who had been a resident of this city for only about two months, died yesterday while undergoing an operation at a Colorado Springs hospital. His former home was in Logan, W. Va. He is survived by his widow, at present in Louisville, Ky., and several children, among them Mrs. C. R. Daniels, who resides here. Funeral services will be held at the home of the deceased, at 10 o'clock this morning, the Rev. J. J. Hutchinson officiating. The services will be public. Later today Mrs. McDaniels will accompany the body to Louisville, Ky., for interment in the family burying ground. Peters purchased the O. C. Shackelford grocery store after his arrival here, and had expected to bring his family here.

POSTPONE ENTERTAINMENT

The entertainment for a book or the price of a book, which was to have been given this month by the Woman's Study club and the Ministerial Association for the benefit of the public library, has been temporarily postponed. In its stead a lecture will be arranged for to come some time in November. The speaker at this time will probably be President William F. Slocum of Colorado college, and his talk will be illustrated with stereoscopic views. Dr. Slocum is now in the east and will not return until November 1. For this reason, full arrangements for the lecture and its subject have not been announced. Dr. Slocum has a number of interesting sets of stereoscopic views, especially those obtained during his trips to the Scandinavian peninsula.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The newly organized graded union and teacher training school of El Paso county will meet tomorrow evening at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:45. The Rev. W. W. Rimmer will deliver the address on "Teacher Training." After the address the audience will separate into the various departments in which they are specially interested. There will be training classes for every year in the graded lessons, as well as for each department above the beginning in the uniform lesson. Home department superintendents, grade roll workers and officers in general will find their respective work under competent leaders. The program for the coming year's work will be announced at this meeting in as far as the committee has it perfected.

The whole plan of the new training school is a comprehensive one, and embraces the fundamentals of the Bible course. The first 45 minutes will be taken up with 15 minutes devoted to a special subject and 25 minutes of study of a standard course in teacher training. After this the scholars will separate into classes where the lesson will be taught by an experienced

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is usually a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to a strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST NEGRO CHAMP

CHAMPION WHO MAY NEVER COME BACK

Jack Johnson, who is in danger of indictment by federal officers for alleged white slaving in his Chicago $100,000 saloon. The big smoke has called off his proposed Australian battles and may not be given the chance to even train for a match.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The testimony of Lucille Cameron, the white girl, whose association with Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, caused an investigation by the United States authorities, to ascertain if the Mann act had been violated, is said to have been the most direct federal grand jury has been able to obtain. It is said that the girl, who has turned against the negro, made highly damaging statements.

At the close of her hearing, the girl became hysterical. She will appear before the jury again tomorrow. This afternoon she yielded to the pleadings of her mother, Mrs. Cameron Falconet, of Minneapolis, and consented to return to her home, renouncing the negro.

The morning session of the jury was occupied with stories of Mrs. Cameron Falconet, Jack Curley, fight promoter; Hank Kenny, Johnson's former sparring partner; and F. P. Davidson, a white saloon keeper.

During the afternoon an ineffectual effort was made by Robert B. Cantwell, Johnson's attorney, to obtain an interview with Miss Cameron. Previously, Cantwell appeared before federal Judge Landis also of the United States court, and made a motion that her bond be reduced. This was denied by Judge Landis.

The jury council at one time voted a resolution urging Mayor Harrison to revoke the saloon license of Jack Johnson and to see to it that Johnson is prosecuted under all the charges against him.

GIANTS OFF TO FOUR PARTS OF THE WORLD

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Giants have all been paid off and most of them are wending their way, via rail and boat, to their homes, scattered all over the country. Each New York player received $2,566.17 as his share of the year's end of the world's series purse. Yes! Fred Snodgrass and Fred Merkle, the two men who kept the team from winning the title because of their inexcusable poor fielding, were paid off just like regular players. The men also received five days' additional pay on their season's contracts. Their contracts expired on October 11, so they were rewarded for playing October 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16. Manager McGraw and Pitcher Muldoon are going to take a flyer into vaudeville, but not together. Matty is going on a long-busting trip. He's after beer, although it's not unlikely that he would prefer to shoot certain fielders and first basemen. Herzog has "gone" to his cabin on the farm in Ridgeville, Mo. Later he's going to Cornell for a course in agriculture. Meyers, Snodgrass and Snider will leave for their homes in California in a few days. Wilson will go to Detroit, Ill. WOULD TRADE OFF CHIEF BENDER DIDN'T DO WORK

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—A rumor that "Tommy Mack is willing to trade his once-great pitcher, Chief Bender, for another twirler, or what have you" is circulating around the American league.

The failure of the world champion Athletics to get up into the first position is blamed directly on the big chief. He has had a hard year.

A sore wing made the Indian practically useless. He never has been a rugged athlete, but he played in poetry and health this year.

Some critics say Bender would have been swapped off some months ago but for the fact that every manager in the American league is afraid of a trade proposed by Connie Mack. When the manager of the Athletics drops around and talks a swap it is time to throw the combination on the safe, bang the doors open the window and boiler for help.

GAVIGAN STOPS STANTON IN SECOND ROUND OF SCRAP

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 22.—Tommy Gavigan of Cleveland tonight stopped Walter Stanton of California, in the second round of a proposed 16-round fight.

Before the first round was a minute old, it was clear that the coast boy was outclassed. His punches left wide openings of which Gavigan did not fail to take advantage. In that round Gavigan scored a knockdown, and in the next he sent Stanton to his knees. A few minutes later a blow to the jaw finished the fight.

The men fought at 160 pounds.

PEACE REIGNS IN MAJORS; YANKS TO USE POLO GROUNDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Relations between the two major baseball leagues have become perfectly amiable as a result of the sensational World's series last closed. For several years the National and American circuits worked in close harmony because it was to the interest of each to do. But behind the mask of friendship there still rankled a bit of ill-will with Ben Johnson, president of the American league, on one side and John T. Brush and John J. McGraw of the New York Giants on the other.

The world's series between the Giants and Red Sox brought about a complete reconciliation among these three powers of organized baseball. John T. Brush and his time-honored foe buried the hatchet at the conference in Mr. Brush's home, prior to the opening of the blue ribbon classic of baseball, two weeks ago.

McGraw and Johnson shook hands and called everything quits on the way back from Boston. It was the first time the two had spoken to each other in 10 years.

Ben had been after McGraw's scalp ever since the New York leader deserted the American league and Baltimore in the old days of the war and jumped to this city with the best of his players. This desertion for a time threatened to break up the young American league, but it eventually resulted in its salvation. The Baltimore franchise was transferred to New York and Frank Farrell's club is now enjoying gratis Baltimore's charter.

Yankees to Play in Stadium

The reconciliation between Ben Johnson and the New York National management signifies much to close followers of baseball. It has been given out officially that the New York Highlanders will play next season at the Polo grounds. Such an agreement with the local owners was entered into more than a week ago.

Mr. Farrell has insisted that this is but a temporary move, a step to avoid resigning of a long lease on the Hill-side property. He insists that work will be rushed on his new plant, at Two Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Broadway, and that he will remain at the Polo grounds only until his own property has been improved for baseball purposes.

To Remodel Polo Grounds

One of the main arguments advanced by the New York American league club against pooling interests with the Giants in a playing field has been that this new step would leave a loophole for some new league to break into New York. Mr. Farrell has tied up considerable capital in real estate at Two Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Broadway. He controls the site, and this shuts off any possibility of invasion by a third league. The Giants control both the Polo grounds and Manhattan field, thus closing the door on any possible New York invasion. By doubling up on these Polo grounds the expenses of both teams would be minimized. The Yankee used the Polo grounds several times this past season and New York appreciated the move by record attendances.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—There is a regular bull in a china shop, said Jones. "Things have gone from bad to worse under his administration. The club had a most unsatisfactory season financially this year. Bresnahan has been at longrange all season with Mrs. Britton, principal owner of the club, also at cross purposes most of the time with his players. The players complain that he has been 'riding them' too hard. The team felt behind its 1911 record in club standing and percentage."

"Roger has had an insane desire to get rid of Miller Huggins and complained that Mrs. Britton was interfering with his prerogatives as manager when she refused to sanction several trades involving the transfer of Huggins."

BRESNAHAN FIRED; SAYS WON'T LEAVE

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—That formal notice has been served on Roger Bresnahan, manager of the St. Louis Nationals, that his contract has been terminated by the club management although it still has four years to run, was admitted this afternoon by J. C. Jones, president of the club. Bresnahan said he would take every means to force the club management to live up to the contract.

"I can now confirm the statement that notice of the termination of his contract has been served on Mr. Bresnahan," Jones said, after earlier in the day refusing to discuss the matter.

To Force Contract

"I have a contract with the Cardinals which has four years to run," Bresnahan said this afternoon. "I will make every effort to force the club owners to live up to their end of it. I have fulfilled all my obligations to the club and will expect the club to fulfill its obligations to me." Bresnahan refused to say whether "making every effort" meant an appeal to the national commission.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 22.—

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 22.—The eight St. Louis players here are: First Baseman Konetchy, Outfielders Oakes and Owens, Shortstop, House, utility man, Mize; Pitchers Burke and Geyer and Catcher Wingo.

Huggins to Succeed?

"It looks as though Miller Huggins would be the next manager," said Burke. "Trouble has been brewing since the blocking of the Cincinnati deal by which Konetchy, Huggins and Miller were to go to the Reds for a number of their men."

News of Local Courts

DISMISS LURIE CASE

Charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, preferred against William Lurie, were dismissed in Justice Gowdy's court, yesterday. When he was defendant in a money demand suit, Meyer Novick recently testified in Justice Dunnington's court that Lurie was his partner in a clothing store on West Huerfano street. A few days later, in Justice Gowdy's court, he denied that Lurie had any interest in the firm. It appears that the latest controversy started over collection, each claiming the right to receive accounts due. When Lurie obtained $3 from a woman as payment on a suit of clothes, Novick caused his arrest on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

For violation of the soliciting ordinances, Ed Harper, a solicitor for the Rex hotel, was fined $5 on one count.

TELEPHONE GIRLS TO GIVE DANCE TUESDAY

Within the last few days the voices of the telephone operators have lost their stereotyped, hardened quality, and are full of pretty little trills that seem to make the answers come more quickly than ever before. The girls on the information desks have learned to whistle the "Hello, People, People, Hello" song from "Havana." They are rearranging it into waltz time, too.

To begin all over again. The telephone girls have a club of their own.

known as the Alta club. It is in smooth running order now and the girls are planning to give club dances "every once in a while" from now on. The first of these comes next Tuesday evening, October 23. It will be held at the Acacia hotel, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, and Pink's orchestra will play. Friends of the girls will be invited, and they expect to have about 50 couples present.

NEW PIPE LINE TO BE BUILT ON SLOPE OF PEAK

A plat of the Abbott pipe line was filed yesterday with the county clerk. The line, leading from a spring, will supply water for property recently purchased by Chauncey Abbott of Schuyler, Neb. The property consists of 150 acres situated near the Half way house on Pikes Peak. The line will cost about $500. Surveys were begun September 15.
